

INSPECTION SERVICES

SERVICE. INTEGRITY.
EXPERIENCE.

Who We Are

Headquartered in Denver, Colorado, Tablerock offers a full range of solutions to assist in the planning, construction and management of oil and gas ventures through our Inspection Services, Integrated Consulting & Inspection (ICI).

Our dedicated team members offer extensive knowledge and a commitment to safety and quality. As an authority in the energy industry, we offer a broad scope of services throughout North America. From initial “big picture” feasibility analysis, clear through the commissioning and start up of a finished pipeline — and whether consulting on a project or offering FEED services to full turnkey project deliverables — our Inspection team is equipped and able to safely meet any challenge.

With over 100 years of collective experience successfully completing complex projects across the energy market, our Inspection professionals offer diverse perspectives through an expert lens, giving our clients a competitive advantage. We think outside the box to deliver innovative solutions that meet project needs while providing accurate information to help clients make data-driven investment decisions.

Our commitment to doing the right thing upfront and offering operational excellence results in cost savings and schedule reductions. With a proven track record, we pride ourselves on delivering unmatched levels of service and accuracy through experience, safety practices and integrity.

We set the standard in integrated solutions.

What We Do

Our vast experience with both large and small projects enables us to provide our clients with a high level of understanding, capability and knowledge in a number of areas.

Our clients trust our quality of work because they trust our people. Our commitment to safety is second to none, and because we embrace a culture of diversity, every voice is heard and every skillset is valued.

We have cultivated an environment that influences what we do and how we perform — with operational excellence.

We are passionate about revolutionizing the energy industry. Our commitment to doing the right thing applies across various markets. Our teams are dedicated to providing operational excellence, ensuring client projects are completed on-time, within budget and securely aligned with all regulatory mandates.

Years of experience and proven results, demonstrated by the successful completion of numerous complex projects, have helped develop our reputation— one we value and take pride in — we deliver on our promise of Service, Integrity and Experience.
